Unique Office Construction Starts At Bethlehem Steel

A new era in economical and rapid office building construction was revealed this week by J. Edward Martin, chief of engineering of Albert C. Martin and Associates, Architects and Engineers as construction was begun on the new office facilities for the Bethlehem Pacific Coast Steel corporation's new fabricating works in Torrance.

These new offices will illustrate low cost per foot construction as well as the practical architectural beauty in using exposed structural steel in contemporary design.

Unlike conventional office buildings, the new all-steel building will feature exposed steel beams externally as well as cellular steel floor sections permitting rapid construction.

This new design was conceived by Albert C. Martin and Associates and features movable steel partitions for greater flexibility in office arrangements and to provide for expansion in the future.

Economical "By using these materials on a prefabricated basis, together with this design, construction schedules were stepped up and costs kept to a new low. With more than 13,000 square feet of floor space, the new all-steel, completely air-conditioned office building is scheduled for completion in four months," Martin stated.

New Cream Introduces Turtle Oil

South American beauties have reputedly used turtle oil for centuries to retain smooth, glowing, and youthful complexions. Now from New York Mme. Eugenie Marchado, Brazilian born cosmetician with a degree in chemistry from Heidelberg, brings to American women her new Turtle Cream.

In Torrance this amazing new beauty cream will be featured by McCown Drug Store.

This cream exclusively contains turtle oil and Alpha estradiol as firming agents, and vitamin A and lanolin to remove impurities and lubricate dry, flaky skins. This cream made of the oil extracted from turtle eggs, is guaranteed to revitalize aging skins by replenishing the essential elements that keep face, neck, and hands firm and smooth.
